FLOOR DEBATE

March 2, 2004

LB 962

will make up the five come from a list, and the Governor will appoint those also. I believe there should be a some consideration given to whether or not the Governor should be a voting member. The Governor can chair the board, but maybe there ought to be six members, including the Governor, so that you have an uneven number who will actually vote. I haven't decided completely yet whether I will offer an amendment to change that, because this is just one of many areas in the bill where I have questions but I haven't had enough time to review it to determine whether or not I have an answer. I'd like to ask, Mr. Chairman, am I recognized for an amendment, or am I just speaking?

SENATOR JANSSEN: There is an amendment to the amendment.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But right now I'm just speaking, right?

SENATOR JANSSEN: Right.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, so then I don't have to touch on the amendment yet. I want to stay on this item. Anybody who's interested in looking at this review board information, the creation of the board is mentioned on page 107, starting in line 7, but you have to go back to some material preceding that to read about an alternative dispute resolution process that can come in with a nonbinding resolution. If the resolution reached by this alternative process is not binding, why even go through the trouble of having two warring sides sit through this process? A determination is made, but it's not binding on anybody. Then you come to this Interrelated Water Review Board. That's where a binding decision is made. This is an area that I don't think is up for discussion right now, because it's beyond that first division. It's in the sections numbered in the forties, so it will be awhile before we get to it. But at least Senator Stuhr will be aware of some questions that I have by the time we get there, and that's all I'll say at this point. Thank you, Mr. President.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Schrock.

SENATOR SCHROCK: Senator Chambers, I will try to address that
